Citizens BANK Tri-Cities Foundation, Ltd.

Citizens Bank Tri-Cities Foundation, Ltd. (The Foundation) is willing to enter into an agreement, as owner of the account, with East Tennessee State University (ETSU) to create two student managed investment portfolios in the amount of $100,000 each. The two funds will be called "The LaPorte Fund" and The Citizens Bank Fund."

Purpose:

The primary purpose of the Citizens Bank Tri-Cities Foundation funds for ETSU (The LaPorte Fund and The Citizens Bank Fund) is educational in nature and will provide real world portfolio management experience to ETSU students by allowing them to apply financial theory to practice. Within that setting, this document sets out the investment objectives and guidelines for these funds.

The guidelines for trading outlined herein are not to be considered a legal framework or set of rules in which deviations are cause for any legal action by any party. It is primarily to give a framework to advisors and students on how the composition of the portfolio should be created and maintained by applying standard portfolio management financial practices. It is likely that deviations from investment guidelines will occur over certain periods due to, but not limited to, financial volatility, internal and external market forces, discontinuous trading, turnover of student managers, limited size of fund, small number of assets held, takeovers, mergers, acquisitions, and academic breaks between semesters in which active management of the funds may be more sporadic or even placed temporarily on hold. Any significant deviations from the investment guidelines discovered by any party, and communicated to managers of funds, should be addressed within a reasonable amount of time (defined as at least quarterly). In no way does this limit Citizens Bank Tri-Cities Foundation or its agents to take unilateral action to rectify any significant policy deviations they identify and deem urgent.

Objective

The investment objective is for the two funds to create a competitive environment for the students and to see a positive return by outperforming an identified equity/bond benchmark while maintaining relevant and comparable risk/return metrics. The objective is not simply to outperform the benchmark, but to do so on a risk adjusted basis as well. The portfolio will be actively managed but within a range of the benchmark equity/bond allocation and add value both through security selection, sector rotation, and varying the equity/bond allocation mixes within 10% absolute bonds. I.E. A managed portfolio relative to a 70/30 benchmark portfolio should not allow the equity/bond mix to vary more than 60 to 80% in equities. The benchmark must be specified at the beginning of each evaluation period and should generally be fixed over a multi-year period.

Guidelines

Asset Allocation

The portfolio shall be invested in a mix of equities, bonds, ETFs, both domestic and international relevant to the benchmark chosen. Cash should be minimized and invested in short-term bonds as needed. Cash should be kept to less than 5%. It may be used for short-term tactical moves as opportunities arise. Benchmark will be based on broad based asset allocation ETFs.

Diversification

The portfolio should consist of a minimum of 20 single issue equity holdings unless combined with broad market ETFs such as SPY or QQQ. Formula for minimum number of stocks is (Tot. Amt. in equities minus Amt. in equity ETFs)/(Total Amt. in equites/20). Narrowly defined ETFs (such as IYG, which is a subsector within Financials) should be considered as a single issue. Sector diversification is recommended, and single issues should be spread across multiple sectors). At the time of any purchase, no single issue should exceed 5% of the total value of the portfolio unless the security itself is greater than 5% of the market, (in 2025, 3 equities have greater than 5% weight in S&P 500). After purchase, no security should exceed 10% of the total value of the portfolio and should be rebalanced appropriately.

Market Capitalization

For equities, micro stocks should be limited to less than 5% of the portfolio. A micro stock is one with less than $50 million in market capitalization.

Exchange Trade Funds

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs} may be purchased in the portfolio with the same minimum market capitalization requirements as above. More non-traditional ETFs such as those that used leverage should be limited to no more than 10% of the portfolio and only with advisor oversight who has knowledge of how these funds operate.

Prohibited Transactions

The following transactions are prohibited: non-marketable securities, non-dollar denominated securities; short-sales, margin purchases, swaps, securities lending, derivative assets such as options and futures, crypto and/or crypto-related currencies or funds.

Laws and Regulations

Managers and advisors will adhere to any and laws and regulations affecting U.S. persons' investment activity.

Terms

The account will be set up with Raymond James through Citizens Investment Services, Inc.

Earnings on the accounts: The Foundation will disburse 50% of the earnings the Student Managed Portfolios generate on a periodic basis (but no longer than a year) to the Center for the Study of Finance. These funds should be primarily but not exclusively directed towards activities dealing with the management of the portfolio through software, awards, scholarships, travel, etc. with final discretion left to the Director of the Center for the Study of Finance. In general, earnings will be calculated based on accumulated sums above the initial endowment.

Maturity: June 1, 2029, unless both parties agree to an extension. Citizens Bank Tri-Cities Foundation reserves the right to end agreement at any time without notice or cause.

Indemnity:

Sponsor Citizens Bank Tri-Cities Foundation, Ltd. agrees to indemnify and hold ETSU (the 'University', its Regents, officers, agents and employees (collectively the "System"), harmless from any liability, loss or damage they may suffer as a result of claims, demands, costs or judgments against from any action brought by the Sponsor, its agents or assigns, arising out of use by System of the activities performed by System under this Agreement with no exceptions excluding fraud or intentional criminal behavior.
